

-----GENERALNEWS-----

Hi All

I am happy to announce 3 new Groove Releases for the coming E-Day!
You can listen to 2 of the new releases in Dreamscape Radio!

GR-248 - Age - Landscapes (cd)

<http://www.groove.nl/index3.html>

Landscapes by Age is One of the gems of the early 80's then released on Vinyl. It represents for me one of the pinnacles of Belgium Elektronik Music.. Emmanuël D haeyer and Guy Vachaudéz created a stunning warm album that will stil be embraced by many!. The Track Symfonieën on this album still is one of my favorite EM songs of all time.

With the re-release on CD we also have added 3 tracks from the early era of the music of AGE. Tides is from the time that Landscapes was made, but never released before. AGE in concert is from the unique KLEM cassette from 1986, a fantastic track that builds from very small to an epic end! And as far as I can check AGE in concert 2 was never released before.

Composed By, Performer – Emmanuël D haeyer, Guy Vachaudéz
Drums, Percussion – Marc Vachaudéz

GR-247 - Skoulaman - Next Step in Evolution (cd)

<http://www.groove.nl/index3.html>

Hans van Kroonenburg a.k.a Skoulaman, started experimenting with electronic music in the late 70's after encountering the music from artists like Vangelis, TD, JMJ, Kraftwerk and many others. Being fascinated by the music, and as a curious person Skoulaman wondered how all these sounds were created and soon bought his first keyboard, a Solina electronic organ, to find out. Slowly more synthesizers and effects were added to the collection, which until today fill up his cozy home studio.

This being the first Skoulaman album that's being released under the Groove label, makes it a special occasion. Also the recording process was a bit more special than usually. Where normally a track would be created completely spontaneous during the moment of recording, this time a more structured approach was needed to be able to reproduce the songs during live performances. The fact that Skoulaman plays his songs completely live without backing track or computer, made it even more challenging.

On all the tracks the arpeggiator of the Moog Little Phatty was used as a base sequencing pattern. On some songs sounds recorded in nature were added to the intro (birds from a forest in Boschoord Netherlands / Evening atmosphere Monopoly Italy / and streaming water in Wilnis, the town where I live). As always reverbs and echoes play a big part in Skoulamans sounds. On 2 tracks Skoulamans son, Rik van Kroonenburg plays electric guitar to beef up the sound.

The title 'Next steps in evolution' is chosen because of the constant evolution of Skoulamans music. Creating an album under the Groove Label creates a great step in this evolution.

Hans van Kroonenburg 05-03-2018

And last but not least.

GR -246 - Wavestar II - Nightwinds (cd)

<http://www.groove.nl/index3.html>

John Dyson have rekindled this glorious name from the past with a brand new constellation of the band Wavestar. Hence the new name Wavestar II. New members Stephen Whitlan and Paul Ward are no strangers to the EM community and with Nightwinds they have created a great new branch to the already beautiful catalog that comes from the British Islands. A must for all John Dyson fans.

GROOVE UNLIMITED LABEL

- 1: Ron Boots & others - An evening with friends (cd)

the level of its layers of sibylline mists very TD of the Phaedra years, of its harmonious but always acrobatic shapeless solos and of its effects which free a fauna a bit psychedelic. Let's say that it isn't with "Il Tempio della Sibilla" that we get into the music of the Italian synthesist. "Grande Cascata" will help for sure!

After an introduction decorated of chloroformed layers, of chthonian voices effects, of electronic effects and of multiple hummings, a series of chords try to introduce something. These chords are taken back by an organ, whereas the rhythmic landscape gets out quietly of its hibernation. The duel between these abscond vibes and a rhythm knotted by jolts persists until the explosion of a nervous line of sequences. These sequences dance with organic shadows before running away with a fluidity which equals the good movements of the Dream in the Encore years. Very good with one finale which tries to return to its origins. Well balanced over its 8 minutes, "La Grotta delle Sirene" is the most beautiful title of "La Valle dell'Inferno". The intro collapses under wonderful chants of the Mellotron. Effects but also the harmonies from the Mellotron and the synth which remind to us the best sound of Tangerine Dream in the 70's. Floating and dreamy, the introduction remains nevertheless more musical here than on the first 3 titles of the album. And when the rhythm emerges, it's by ample oscillations which espouse the moods drawn from this splendid very Froese synth. A little jewel my friends which glitters of this music of the 70's where it was necessary to tame the ambiances before savoring a music, in spite of its distances with what was made at that time, which always ended by surprising before seducing.
