

----- GENERAL NEWS -----

Hello All

We have some cool release that are now available.
First of a special CDr by Bernd Scholl - One Earth One Sky.
A special release limited to just 100 Copies.

BERND SCHOLL with "One Earth - One Sky"

CDr release "... are there any of your three EP downloads on CD?"
The sound painter Bernd Scholl, had to listen to this phrase many times.
But now the time has come ... just in time for his concert there will be a CD under "One Earth - One Sky" containing his EP trilogy "The View from here I-III". All titles were revised again, thematically put into a new order and even added to a previously unpublished title. The CD is limited edition, available on concert evening and now also online.

And a new Otarion - Extensive !!!

I love that man's music.

I listened to a lot of albums over the years. From time to time You listen to that special one, that touches instantly Your heart. The new album "Extensive" from Otariion is such an album. It is full of emotions in different ways. Its euphoric, melancholic, dramatic and in between positively relaxing. Any note, any song and any instrument is perfectly arranged. All is combined to one piece. Natural instruments dominate, in between there are maintaining hints from electronic genres plus some sacral elements. Dark and mysterious soundscapes hold everything together. "Extensive" is 100% instrumental. Without one word it tells an exciting story of emotions. Of life. Of craving. The music is delivered in a bombastic and high dynamic sound. "Extensive" is a perfect soundtrack for mind and soul.

Remy - Planet of the Arps

Back in July 2010 musician of electronic music Remy Stroomer (aka REMY) recorded the first version of an ambient music piece. It became a trip of one hour which might be at some points in the line of the composer's solo work, but it was decided that this project was about to be presented as an ambient sideproject. To be called "Planet of the Arps".

The name refers to the musical phenomenon arpeggio (whether or not produced by an arpeggiator), Halton Arp and his Atlas of Peculiar Galaxies, Alan R. Pearlman and his legendary ARP-synthesizers, and it might be clear that it also winks to the "Planet of the Apes" science fiction franchise. As soon as the first version of the music piece was recorded, Remy had in mind to involve a fellow musician to contribute to this project, as he felt it needed an extra touch before it eventually could be released. When the Ricochet Gathering event took place in Berlin, in October 2010, Remy asked Wolfram Spyra to be part of this ambient work. Although 'Der Spyra' wanted to work on it, there seemed to be lack of time, and above all both artists had other priorities at that moment. The project was set aside for the time being.

When Remy was invited to perform at the Zeiss Planetarium in Bochum (Germany), September 15th 2012, he decided to perform this particular piece of music. Simply because it was about to fit perfectly on this location. Some additions and edits were made, and during this solo concert version 2.0 was established. Then, almost two years passed since then, when Remy organized a concert evening at the Ruins of Brederode in Santpoort- Zuid (Netherlands), June 27th, 2014. For the line-up Remy programmed his band at that time, Free Arts Lab, as well as Wolfram Spyra.

To conclude the evening, the idea came in mind to do an improvisation around an edited version of "Planet of the Arps". Which took place in a different way Remy had in mind. Due to circumstances there was no time to rehearse the collaboration session, and just before the show it was decided that Spyra's partner in crime and singer Roksana Vikaluk was about to join. Resulting into a 20 minutes live version of "Planet of the Arps", in an entirely improvised setting. The outcome was, so to say, really exciting. Musically, as well as atmospheric, everything seemed to fall into its place. Hereafter it again took a while - more than 4 years - before it was decided that "Planet of the Arps" should get the release in its current form:

The original piece, remixed and supplemented with elements from the live performances. Let's see it as a project which needed this time to evolve, and to result into the version to be heard on this "Planet of the Arps".

Lambert - Dimensions of Dreams remastered

Dreams to escape from reality. That's the topic of the album „Dimensions Of Dreams“, released in 1995. The music supports the search for a refuge in an alternative sphere, in a dream world. „Dimensions Of Dreams“ is the third album by electronic artist Lambert, which can be regarded as the most sophisticated and elaborated Lambert release until that time. The Berlin School style has been developed to an extraordinary extent, enriched by full pad sounds evoking a multidimensional atmosphere.

„...the sequences...remind me of Chris Franke at his best times...a big progress in depth and warmth...“ KLEM-NRW 95

„...you want to listen to it again and again...“ (Ben Kettlewell, USA)

Compositional developments with an arc of tension are created by the use of noise, voice and sound sculptures finding its way to catchy and multilayered sequencer patterns: harmonic, melodic and thus perfect for dreaming.

Sold out for plenty of years this album finally is available again in a remastered version featuring one unreleased track as a bonus on occasion of the albums 24th anniversary.

Wanted rarity, remastered with a Bonus Track, CD duration of 80 min. Incl. the highlights „Immersion“ and „Return“ Reviews in Print- and Onlinemagazines, Youtube Presentation

Baaden / Cremer - Aufbruch

1. Das Lebenselixier (the elixir of life) "The Elixir of Life" is a long piece inspired by the Berlin School. It was created in the Level p Studio in Cologne during an extended jam session.

2. The Rise and the Fall of Proxima Centauri pt. II "Rise and Fall" is a very special piece for us. It took 28 years and a month to complete. The basic track was recorded live by Andreas on a stereo tape and then transferred to cassette. Of course he used pure analog equipment: a Korg MS 20 and an old Hohner Excelsior String Keyboard, made in Italy. The additional tracks were recorded in 2009 with modern equipment. For us "Rise and Fall" is a timeless piece of music!

3. Kurz vor dem Aufbruch (shortly before the departure) Berlin, 1975: Klaus Schulze is already on his way home, but has forgotten to switch off the sequencer in the studio. Curious about the music, Nick Mason, David Gilmour and Richard Wright enter the studio, take their instruments and start jamming. This is the so far unknown Klaus Schulze/Pink Floyd Collaboration, which we thought up "shortly before the departure" by Andreas from Cologne.

4. Moonglow We're looking up. Into the sky. It's cold. The moon is high above the landscape, the scenery is frightening. Shadows are everywhere, the future is uncertain. Moonglow. Recorded and mixed in Aegidienberg and Cologne.

5. Das Möbiusband ...inside, outside and inside again. Further and further. Keep running. Music flows on an endless level. One side, one path. If you think you have reached your goal, you are back at the start. Inside, outside and inside again. Further and further. Run on. Music flows... Recorded during a jam session in Cologne.

6. Steamroller on the Interstellar Highway The song was written during a jam session in Aegidienberg 2011. We decided to re-record the song and suddenly it became a completely new track. Let's rock!

And from tomorrow all new released Groove titles will be available as downloads. So from 15-4-2019 visit our download site and check them out!!
